The Taste – Sunday Funk

FOR RELEASE ON MON 28TH AUG

Following on from their recent single release of 'The Hands Of', Cairns based tropical hip hop ensemble The Taste release their latest single 'Sunday Funk' ahead of their upcoming album release 'Convalesce' on September 13.

Recorded, mixed and mastered by Luke Green at The Rec Room in Townsville, the near instrumental 4 word 2 chord jam 'Sunday Funk' features a smorgasbord of tropical influences with guitars, percussion and horns sizzling nicely throughout the track.

A staple in The Taste live performances for the last two years, the introductory song to the band's new album 'Convalesce' highlights the collective mash of musical talent across the band with instruments such as Saxophone, Trumpet, Flute, Congo's and Electric Guitar taking the lead throughout the 5 minute tropical infusion.

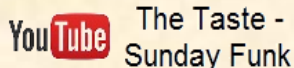

Written on a Sunday during wet season at a quiet gig in Palm Cove, the song has become a fan favourite and familiar opening to many Taste performances.

"Originally it was a song we use to play to let off a bit of steam. Our lead guitarist and horn players would all just let rip over the groove of the song. Sometimes it would go for 10 plus minutes." said Mitch Sullivan

'Sunday Funk' is the second single to be released from the upcoming album 'Convalesce'. The Taste tour NSW/QLD in Sep-Nov 2017.
